when you copy your code from chat gpt and it still gets error when your laptop turns into a heater thanks to large dataset

when you run your code after 100 errors

and it finnally runs

when you change one variable name and claimed you optimized the entire code when you finally understand a complex concept and explain it to everyone